

Hearing on September 4 and 5, 2013

On September 5, 2013, United States District Court Judge Huvelle released the defendant, Ali Mohamed Ali, pending trial. Judge Huvelle held that the defendant had been incarcerated too long without a trial and that his due process rights to a speedy trial would be violated by continued incarceration. The Government appealed the decision to the United States Appellate Court for the District of Columbia. The scheduled trial date is now set for October 31, 2013.